Letters to The Times

It Was Probably Due to the Heat

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I was quite shocked to read your editorial "Is July Necessary?" With all respect due to the people born in that month, which you so scholarly enumerate, did you not forget or omit to mention a certain most important event which took place in July—the very birth of this great nation? How can you say that you wonder whether there ever ought to have been a month of July? Please do not disappoint a naturalized citizen who has become one precisely because of the only birthday in July which you seem to have forgotten.

IRAKLI ORBELIANI.
